Blood Drive draws students

BHSU students Abby Detweiler and Kirsten Torgerson are assisted by Angie Adams of United Blood Services during LCM.BHSU's 3rd Blood Drive, held this spring. To date, some 78 draws have been taken at The Living Room.

SIGN DRAWS ATTENTION

Sporting a fresh look, with a new coat of paint by Russ Root and palette picks by Cheryl Shinabarger, The Living Room now catches one's eye with a three-metal sign designed by Andy Fett, constructed by Tim Peterson of Flat Earth Art Co. and funded by Thrivent Financial for Lutherans.

Trek to Pathways Spiritual Sanctuary

LCM.BHSU students recently received a tour of Pathways Spiritual Sanctuary by owner Dave Snyder, near Lead, SD. The sanctuary is a beautiful 80-acre property open to all. The trail is speckled with plaques that offer sacred or spiritual writings, a labyrinth, sculptures and meditation gardens. It is a MUST SEE in the Black Hills.
